Do this: Practical task:

Working together in a small group, write a Chorus piece that narrates an every day activity (EG washing the pots, getting ready for school, walking the dog). Write at least six sentences describing the activity - don't forget to use detailed and descriptive language.

Choose one member of the group to be the 'Protagonist'. They will perform the actions (in an exaggerated fashion) as the rest of the group (as the Chorus) narrate them.

Don't forget the Chorus must all speak in unison. It's a good idea to choose an adult or strong performer to be your Coryphaeus to lead and help the others along. Go a step further by adding choreographed movements for your Chorus to do, or even add a song!
